Hartford, Ky.

"SANTA Claus is comin'" is the exulting cry of a hundred million kids.

If William O. Bradley is elected Governor of Kentucky in '95, as he will be, he'll be elected Vice President in '96.

BRADLEY is the logical Republican candidate for Governor next year. All this talk about other candidates is so much wind thrown away.

FRANK CRISSWELL, a farmer living near Martin, Ky., was bitten by a cow with hydrophobia on the 4th, and he now has the disease and is not expected to live.

Is the Commercial Club dead or only sleeping? If dead it is indeed a still corps, if only a sleep how profound must be that sleep. Where is the Gabriel who can arouse it to its former life and vigor.

CHRISTMAS, the jolliest of all jolly times, is almost here and everybody feels the inspiration its annual resources brings. May all our readers have a pleasant, happy time and live to enjoy many more.

A COUPLE of precincts in Marion county owe a railroad tax, it seems, and the people are resisting the collection. They are making life miserable for Blackwell, the collector. The outcome will be watched with interest.

PERHAPS three men so ill prepared to "hold down" their jobs never tinkered with the people's interest at the same time as are the trio composed of Gresham, as Secretary of State; Carlisle, as Secretary of the Treasury, and Wilson, as general Tariff tinkerer.

NEXT week's papers will be full of the accounts of Christmas quarrels, shootings and killings in four of every five of which whisky will play a conspicuous part. And yet Hartford is called upon to set the seal of her commendation upon whisky traffic—the open season.

ANOTHER man has upheld his life a sacrifice to the brutal practice of prize-fighting. Lavigne and Bowen fought at New Orleans the 15th. Bowen was "knocked out" by a blow from the effect of which he died in a few hours. This is the second man in a month to lose his life in this manner.

ARE you going to drink any liquor during Christmas? Going to get drunk? If so, go home shut yourself up in your own backyard and sail in. And if you do get drunk crawl into your own chicken coop, or mudhole, or slop barrel. Don't get out on the streets or anywhere else, where you'll raise a row.

THE Hardsburg Leader is the of a new Republican paper published at Hardsburg by the Publishing Company. It is a weekly sheet; its articles are crisp and to the point; the mechanical department is well executed and on the whole the paper is a good one, a credit to the publishers and to the country. May much success attend it and may Breckinridge increase her popularity and the Leader's subscription indefinitely.

AMONG the many liberal offers contained in our clubbing list, perhaps none merits more favor than the one comprising THE REPUBLICAN and Semi-Weekly Globe-Democrat, both one year for $1.50. Three papers a week for one year for so small a sum is indeed a very liberal offer, and one to which not only old subscribers but new ones should respond. The Globe-Democrat is the leading paper west of the Mississippi and its field is so nearly central to the great Mississippi Valley as to render it almost a necessity. Let the subscriptions come in.

JUDGE JAMES F. CARSON has been appointed Chairman of the County Committee of the Bureau of Information and Immigration organized at Louisville about two months ago. The State is thoroughly organized by Congressional Districts, and among other things it is proposed to list all saleable lands and publish same. To do this money is needed and Ohio county has been assessed $78.42 as her pro rata of the expense fund. Judge Carson is well fitted for the position and will make an efficient officer for the Bureau. He will be pleased for parties interested in the success of the scheme to contribute to the expense fund.

THE Republicans of Kentucky know their business and all the Democratic editorials about Mr. Bradley's being unpopular with the masses, all the Democratic counter and puffing of the would-be little booms of other Republican candidates are of no avail. Mr. Bradley is the man for Governor, and nobody is more painfully aware of that fact than the Democratic leaders themselves. In fact the Democratic leaders are afraid of Bradley and his manly, magnetic leadership and power with the people. He is popular, not only with the Republican party, but with the masses of the people generally. They recognize in him a man of the people, with sterling ability and unflinching devotion to the interests of the great Commonwealth. Bradley's candidacy for Governor will strike terror to the hearts of the Frankfort ring and will awaken a popular enthusiasm second to none in the history of the State. It's idle to talk of anybody else for the Republican nomination for Governor. Ohio county now places him in nomination, pledging him her unanimous strength in the Convention and 400 majority at the polls.

Relief for the Railroads.
The pooling bill passed by the House is designed, as Mr. Reed shows, to relieve the railroads of an embarrassment that prevents them from rendering the best service to the people, and at the same time protecting and promoting their own interests. It authorizes different and competing lines to enter into written contracts for a division of their earnings, subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and makes such contracts legally binding. This simply means stability and uniformity in rates, and the prevention of those contests which demoralize the railroad business and injuriously affect all kinds of trade. As the matter now stands, there is no assurance that the rates of to-day will be the rates of to-morrow, and thus there is an element of constant uncertainty in commerce which is detrimental alike to the railroads and to their patrons. Experience has demonstrated that unrestricted competition among railroads is sure to be attended by discriminations in favor of large shippers at the expense of small ones, and in favor of centers of distribution at the expense of intermediate points. It is easy to say that this should not be so, but the fact exists, nevertheless, and must be considered as a leading factor in the problem.

There is no reason to believe that pooling will result in higher wages. It will not be in the power of the railroads under this bill to fix rates at their pleasure. The commission must first be satisfied of the reasonableness of proposed changes in that respect, and it is authorized to annul a contract when convinced that the public is being wronged, or that the rates are in many sense contrary to the rules of justice and fairness. This is ample protection against exorbitant charges of any kind of oppression. When a contract is once made, the roads concerned will have to abide by its terms, whereas all present arrangements of that kind can be broken without incurring a legal penalty. It is not to be doubted that most of the railroads now in the hands of receivers were placed there mainly by the sort of competition which this bill is intended to stop. It is not to the interest of the public to have these important agencies so operated as to bring on bankruptcy. There can not be satisfactory facilities of transportation where the conditions invite such a result, and it is desirable, therefore, that the roads be allowed to manage their affairs according to safe and practical methods, and thus to be able to perform the best service at properly adjusted rates.—[Globe-Democrat.]

The people we see.
The Louisville Commercial has evidently been imposed upon, as you will infer from the following taken from that excellent Journal:

In a newspaper office one may see life. All kinds of people are met with, from the highest to the lowest, and the diversity of characters met with in the space of only one hour is worthy of attention from students human nature. One can, perhaps, meet more different people in the street, but they are mere passers-by, and do not show their natures, hopes, plans, sorrows or desires as they do when they come to the newspaper office with a mission. Nor are the people in the street easily assortable into appropriate classes, nor, on the other hand, do they exhibit the individuality that they reveal when they are met in a newspaper office. Take for instance, the hour between 7 and 8 o'clock last Sunday night. In that time some fourteen people dropped in to see the man presiding over the office on original business. To begin with, there was a sharp business man who had matters pertaining to a big business dispute to unfold and urge his contention in the case. He was a man that could smoke as many cents cigars in a day as he pleased, and was interesting himself in the matter just for the novelty of it. Another visitor was an Arab merchant in a small way, who came to see if the paper had received any tidings of a murder of a friend of like nationality in the woods of Larue county. He incidentally delivered himself of a valuable story in connection with the occurrence. Again, there was a blind newsboy, who came to repeat the story of his misfortune and crave reading notice on the strength of the anniversary of his affliction. Among others was a prominent politician, who dropped in to discuss the latest gossip of politics and offer suggestions pertaining to the topic of the hour. Then there was an ex-convict, cough, who wanted to tell what prison life was like, his experience being bright in his mind by reason of having just come out. Then there was a woman who wanted a society note in the paper next day. Hardly had she left when a man appeared with notice of a wed-ding that was to occur the next day. A man who has no known occupation came in with the tale of a cutting affray which he wanted to see in print, because he had happened to witness it. The description of all the visitors and their business would be almost interminable in number and variety."

$100 Reward $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Rev. J. R. Crawford Resigns.
The Owensboro Messenger has the following to say regarding a young minister who is very popular with our people, having preached here a great many times: "Rev. J. R. Crawford has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, to take effect April 1, 1895. He has been offered work in the synodical field in Tennessee at a material increase in salary, and to accept this he resigns. He has had charge of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in this city about five years. He came here when he was quite young in the ministry, but proved himself equal to the responsibility of his undertaking from the first. He has grown in his profession, in the affections of his congregation, and in the community throughout his stay. He has done some notable pulpit work in Owensboro. While never sensational, he has been bold and direct in fighting various forms of sin and can be proud of his achievements. His church has prospered more than ever before during his pastorate. It be with much regret Owensboro will give up Mr. Crawford and his charming wife as citizens."

FOR BRADLEY.

Our Lebanon Correspondent
Says His End of the Dis-trict is Solid for Bradley.

LEBANON, KY., Dec. 17, '94.

Things have settled down to a normal condition in this end of the district, since the Republicans have carried pretty much everything before them, but we will hardly be off with the old one before we are on with the new. Having elected Lewis so handily we will now be called upon to nominate Bradley for Governor and likewise elect him. The way has been opened up in our district, by the magnificent race made by Mr. Lewis, for a fuller and more complete victory next year in the district even he won.

There is no reason why the Republicans can't hold their own in this district and make further gains next year. It is true, Montgomery was weak, but he appeared not to be weaker than his party. The outlook at present from a careful and conservative estimate is, that "honest Watt Hardin" will easily win the Democratic nomination over "Granger Clay" and there is plainly a determination on the part of the people to down the old ring and gang to which "honest Watt" is recognized as belonging.

Marion county will take no backward step and will give Bradley a good majority and let the heavy Republican counties of Ohio, Grayson and Breckinridge, see to it that their good majorities are held, if not increased. We are all for Bradley in this end of the district and presume that he will meet with no serious opposition in the nominating convention.

I have read the President's Message. I always read his messages and always like to read them. I like them better the shorter they are and therefore I like his last one the best of all. He confines a very large portion of his last message to our foreign affairs yet there is scant information to be derived from it and very little of interest. Much that was left unsaid might have been said, and occupying smaller space than the matter given us, been far more interest and yielded more information than the dull details given. If our foreign policy had only lacked in brilliancy, that we could have borne. To have it, however, not only a miserable failure, but marked with stupidity, ignorance and dishonesty it makes us wish, with Mr. Watterson, that the whole nauseous matter might go to grass, and that Gresham was in the Chinese army where the Japs might get a chance at him. Had the President attempted to throw some light, by way of justification, on his action in sending Willis an accredited minister to the Dole Government at Hawaii and at the same time the bearer of secret instructions to enter a conspiracy to overthrow that Government, it would have been highly interesting.

There is a humorous side of the President's Message probably not observed by the careless reader. With a Tariff Bill for revenue only, furnishing a revenue that runs regularly behind $800,000 each month of our current expenses, he recommends that other articles paying revenue be placed on the free list. He is a wonderful President. As a literary treat the message under consideration, is not unlike his former ones whether those he addressed to Congress, or his epistolary communication intended for that body. Is it we have no "innocuous" descent, or "communism of pelf," but we have "retarded by jealous rivalries of selfish distrust." That is a good one. And can mark, as it were, but Grover is getting to a back-bone.

Farewell to the Christmas Tree.

The New York World says the Christmas Tree will be supplanted and offers the following as a substitute:

"The Christmas tree is to be supplanted this year. The mothers of the land and aunts and grown-up sisters have said: 'Go to, now; we will devise something new. For lo! these many years have our rooms been littered with evergreen spikes; these many winters past have our arms ached from tying impossible cherubs at impossible heights; for lo! these many Christmases has the department dreaded the union of lighted candles and dry branches. We will have something new.'

"Two things are certain about the novelty, whatever form it may take. It will not seem so appropriate as the green tree, with its many legends, and it will not delight the children so much as the gaily-hung boughs. But it will be novel, and that is what the mothers and aunts and grown up sisters want."

"At a late hour the man was taken to the Girvin house on Lewis street, but was not identified. He was therefore released, the police meanwhile continuing the search."

We are better prepared than ever to do your Job Work, and guarantee you satisfaction in quality and prices. Why go elsewhere when we can do just as good work and at lower prices? Give us an order and be convinced, tire snow field. A sheet is the best material to stretch down, and it should have tacked over it bits of raw cotton with here and there a piece of tin foil to give the effect of glittering snow. On this should be placed a big sleigh. Big sleighs are not found in abundance in every household, of course, but the households which have no sleighs will have to depend upon the old-fashioned Christmas tree. The children's gifts should be packed in the sleigh and some one should be prepared to act as Santa Claus on Christmas morning and distribute the load of presents. The shafts should be wound with ground pine and bells should be attached, so that the traditional Santa Claus jingle will be heard.

Take your butter, eggs, flour, &c., to Hall Bros. and you will secure the highest prices.

"An enormous hollow log—the Yule log in appearance, if not in reality—may be another receivable for gifts. A papier mache log with adjustable top is the most convenient log for this purpose. When the top has been lifted and the presents have been distributed the make-believe log may be burned in regulation style.

"A row of little wooden shoes set in good, old-fashioned German style about the fire is an excellent substitute for the customary row of stockings dangling above it. It is a pretty Christmas-like idea to have the various presents arranged in a snow-drift. All the gifts are arranged in white boxes, which have imitation of snow in the form of sprang raw cotton tacked over their lids and sides. Bits of holly are stuck in, and the whole lot is piled loosely in one corner. The amount of fun which the little people extract from the appearance of the pile and from the search for their own particular boxes more than pays for the difficulty of arranging the snow-drift."

Catarrh is a constitutional disease, Hood's Sarsaparilla is a constitutional remedy. It cures catarrh. Give it trial:

Lawsuit at Owensboro.
Wednesday's Messenger has the following to say of a dastardly outrage committed at Owensboro:

"An outrage was committed about 5:45 yesterday afternoon, near the O. and N. and 'Texas' railroad crossings, which is as yet unequalled in the local annals of crime in baseness and brutality.

"Will Girvin, an eighteen-year old boy, was horribly maltreated by two tramps. He was walking up the 'Texas' track and when near a pile of logs, where the men were sitting, one of them threw a coat over his head and both seized him. He was then carried into a box car and chloroformed. Before the portion took effect, one of the men, while the other sat on the boy's head, inserted a long knife into the boy's rectum and worked it back and forth so as to cut slit three and half inches long in the flesh and lacerating the bowels very badly. The villains then committed the loathsome crime of sodomy upon him. The boy was left unconscious in a pool of blood, where he was found a short time afterward by his brother. He was taken home and Dr. J. P. Heavrin was called to attend him. At midnight the boy was in a precarious condition, but with careful nursing will probably recover. For several hours he suffered excruciating pain and but not for anesthetics could not have stood the agony.

"The men were recognized by the boy as two had loitered about spot all day reading papers. A thorough investigation convinced the police that they were men who worked a few days last week at the wheel factory and were paid off Monday. These two men, giving their names as Kelly and Smith, stopped at the St Francis hotel and spent Monday night in drinking heavily. Last night they were seen on the railroad. They did not return to the hotel.

"Unsuccessful efforts were made to get blood hounds, by telegraphing for them, to trace the wretches. Searching parties with the police scoured the town and vicinity.

"John Girvin, a brother to the victim, knew the tile works was a sleeping place for many tramps and donned some old cloths and played tramp. He learned from the watchman at the tile works that a man partially answering the description of one of the villains was asleep in the dry house. He came back to town and informed the police. Officers Hamilton and Hurt, followed by a small mob, thirsting for vengeance found the man described by John Girvin, and he was arrested. He gave an unfamiliar name, but was taken into custody.

"One of the men, according to the victim's description, was a short, heavy-set man, wearing a light overcoat. The other was tall, wore a dark, long overcoat and had a bandage over his left eye. The man arrested wore the bandage and answered in every particular the description of the tall man, save that his overcoat was not long.

"That portion of the community that had heard of the nasty outrage last night was thoroughly aroused in indignation, and if it had been certain the right man was caught the officers might have had trouble in landing him in prison.

Virgil Fleener and Pertiller Smith, of Dexterville, Butler county, were in Hartford Wednesday evening in search of a supposed horse thief. The circumstances were as follows: On the night of the 12th a neighbor of C. B. Smith, of near Dexterville, lost a pony horse, which was tracked in the direction of Smith's. The same night Smith's barn was burned, containing 12 head of horses and mules. Ten horses were burned to death, while one horse and mule escaped, but were burned so badly that they will be of little value. Two days later the tracks of a horse were discovered out the back way from the barn, and a saddle was missing, hence the search for a horse thief. Origin of fire unknown. Loss about $3,000.

THE DIFFERENCE.

Main Distinction Drawn Between Clocks and Watches.

A watch differs from a clock in its having a vibrating wheel instead of a vibrating pendulum, and as in a clock gravity is always pulling the pendulum down to the bottom of its arc, which is the natural place of rest, but does not fix it there, because the momentum acquired during its fall from one side carries it up to an equal height on the other, so in a watch a spring, generally spiral, surrounding the axis of the balance wheel, is always pulling this toward a middle position of rest, but does not fix it there, because the momentum acquired during its approach to the middle position from either side carries it just as far past on the other side, and the spring has to begin its work again. The balance wheel, at each vibration, allows one tooth of the adjoining wheel to pass, as the pendulum does in a clock, and the record of the beats is preserved by the wheel which follows. A mainspring is used to keep up the motion of the watch, instead of the weight used in a clock; and as a spring acts equally well, whatever its position, a watch keeps time, although carried in the pocket or in a moving ship. In winding up a watch, one turn of the axle in which the key is fixed is rendered equivalent by the train of wheels to about four hundred turns or beats of the balance wheel, and thus the exertion, during a few seconds of the hand which winds up, gives motion for twenty-four or thirty hours.—Brooklyn Eagle.

ANDERSON-FAUGHT.

Last Sunday morning at 9 o'clock Mr. O. P. Anderson was married to Miss Edna Faught, daughter of Mr. T. H. Faught, at the home of her brother-in-law, Mr. Frank Sullenger, in the presence of a large circle of friends and relatives, Rev. G. J. Bean pronouncing the words that made two happy hearts beat as one. Mr. Anderson is a member of the Alabamian Renovating Co., and is an excellent young gentleman, and has made many friends during his stay here, who wish for him and the excellent young lady who has said she would share life's troubles and happiness with him, all the happiness imaginable.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, where a bountiful repast awaited them. And on Monday they came to Hartford and were tendered a handsome reception by Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Patterson.

GONE HOME.

The following lines were written by a friend and schoolmate of Mr. James C. Miller, of Daviess county, deceased: You have gone and the joy seems to have vanished too:

You do not know how sad the hearts to-night that think of you.

But if you could, all unknown to us, look upon the scene, You'd wonder at the change in those with whom you late have been.

We did not know the joy, the light your presence lent, 'Till your Heavenly Father said "come."

And we must be content to give you up,

You whom we miss more than words can tell.

How much we miss dear Jim, whom we all loved so well.

The guitar silent is, since has died the sweet voiced boy;

Though you're where the angels are,

Sharing to their heavenly joy,

Yet my mind will wander back to the summer day,

When you sang to me,

That sweet song of the ship that sailed away,

For the part beyond sea;

And now, dear Jim, farewell we shall meet no more

'Till we greet each other on that bright and golden shore.

DISGUISED CATARRH.

A Stealthy, Insidious, Weakening Enemy to Woman.

There are a multitude of women, especially housewives, and all other women are obliged to be on their feet constantly, who are wretched beyond description, simply because their strength and vitality is sapped away by catarrhal discharges from the pelvic organs. These women get up in the morning tired, drag themselves through their daily duties tired only to go to bed at night as tired as before.

Pe-ru-na is such a perfect for each case that when patients have once used it they can never be induced to quit it until they are permanently cured. It begins to relieve the disagreeable symptoms at once. The backache ceased, the trembling knees are strengthened the appetite restored, digestion made perfect, the dull headache is stopped, and the weakening drains are gradually cured. These results certainly follow a course of treatment with Pe-ru-na.

A valuable illustrated pamphlet of thirty pages, fully describing this class of disorders, including coughs, colds, laryngitis, and all other climatic diseases of winter, will be sent free to any address by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

KENTUCKY.

Bureau of Information and Immigration, General Office, Room No. 64 Board of Trade Building, Louisville, Ky.

An immigration Convention held in Louisville on the 24th and 25th of October, 1894, in which all portions of the State were represented by the delegates of the highest intelligence, provision was made for the organization of a Bureau of Information and Immigration, and the undersigned were appointed to issue an address setting forth the action of the convention and inviting the cooperation of the good people of the Commonwealth. The General Assembly of Kentucky has seen fit to abolish the Geological Survey, which for many years was the means of conveying to the people, at home and abroad, official information in regard to our mineral wealth and other natural resources. Through this influence is due much of the influx of capital and population, the increase of railroad mileage and the growth of manufactures which have marked the past decade. The State has felt the loss of this valuable survey, and the late Convention has sought to establish in its stead a Bureau, to be sustained by voluntary contribution, which will to some extent supply its place. Recognizing the fact that no movement of this kind can succeed without the full sympathy and co-operation of the people of Kentucky, we take this means of acquainting you briefly with our purpose and aims.

Our State has a large amount of territory which is yet thinly settled, while within the limits of even the most thickly-populated counties there is much land unimproved which could be made productive if occupied by thrifty immigrants from other States or from foreign countries. Drought, forest fires and the rigors of winter are causing much inquiry for homes in a more favored climate by the large body of people who would make valuable additions to our population, and information is sought also as to our mineral and timber resources. We have these in great abundance, and capital is needed for their development. In every part of the State there is agricultural or mineral land for sale at low prices, but there are few buyers. Beyond the limits of the State there are many thousands who want to buy such lands for settlement as farmers, for the development of the minerals or the manufacturer of the timber. The prime object of the Bureau we are organizing is to open a communication with our people who want to sell their lands and those outside the State who want to buy.

In order to do this we propose a simple organization, the details of which will be fully set forth in the Article of Association, rules and regulations of the Bureau of Information:

tion and Immigration. The silent feature of this system is to interest the people, themselves in the work of furnishing information respecting the land they have for sale, the character of the soil, the minerals, the timber, the prices at which it can be bought and the character of immigration they desire. This work will be done by County Committee, organized by and reporting through the chairman of each congressional district, who will be one of the Executive Committee of the Bureau. The enterprising men of each county and neighborhood, especially young men, the county officers, and individuals or corporations owning land, will give a little attention to the subject they can forward our work, and at the same time benefit themselves. We have no gilded scheme to propose; we are not aiming to work up a boom, but by simple and systematic methods to enlist the energies of the best men in the State, the intelligent citizens of each county, who take pride in its progress and development in building up its waste places, increasing its earning capacity, adding to its wealth and hereby lightening taxation.

The power of such men in working good to the Commonwealth can not be overestimated. Their interest and co-operation will be a guarantee to settlers and investors that they favor the highest degree of development, that our law for the protection of life and property will be fully and impartially executed, than education will be fostered and that a hospital and helping hand will be extended to all worthy newcomers. If we can be animated by this spirit, then indeed we can hope to see Kentucky take the position among the States of the Union for which the bounty of nature in soil, climate and natural resources has fitted her. The praise of her products of distillation, fast horses and feminine beauty has been worn theradare. She needs no vindication for her name against the charge of laxity of law, often exaggerated by the malice of those interested in diverting capital and population elsewhere. This must be done by enforcing it rigidly. She needs no dispel the idea which has gained currency that she does not wish any addition to her population, native or foreign. This can be effected by entering zealously into the work proposed by this Bureau.

Let those who have surplus lands study how they can best dispose of them. Put the prices low enough and the terms liberal enough to attract good buyers, and thus enhance the value of the remainder. If there are thrifless owners who let lands go to waste and bring discredit upon the neighborhood, let the enterprising neighbors unite to secure its sale to a more thrifthy purchaser. We propose to use our best effort to make the Bureau of Information and Immigration a success on the lines indicated. It is worth a trial, and to that end we ask the aid of every citizen of the State, and the particular citizen we are addressing now your neighbor, but you who are reading this.

The officer of the Bureau is room 64 Board of Trade building, Louisville, Ky.

Following are the Articles Association, Regulations and By-laws of the Kentucky Bureau of Information and Immigration:

ARTICLE I.

The hereinabove named Executive Committee appointed by the Immigration Convention held in Louisville, Ky., October 24 and 25, 1894, to organize a permanent association of citizens of Kentucky interested in the development and prosperity of the State, for the purpose of securing a desirable class of immigrants both from other States of the Union and foreign countries, for advertising, and in every practical manner advancing the development of our natural resources, to now and hereby, in virtue of the above power and in pursuance of said instructions, establish, organize and constitute the Kentucky Bureau of Information and Immigration.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. The purpose of said bureau shall be to promote the progress of Kentucky:

1. By collecting accurate information respecting the natural resources of the State and aiding in disseminating the same, wherever it may be most beneficial to the localities and industries involved.
2. Ascertaining the wants of capital seeking investment and of prospective settlers on the one hand, and of the individuals and communities seeking capital and increased population on the other, and by becoming the medium of communication for bringing the two classes together.
3. By endeavoring to procure the passage of laws which will encourage the influx of capital and population.

SECTION 2. It shall be the aim of the bureau to guard against interference or competition with the business of local real estate or other corporations, firms or individuals engaged in the work of development, but to co-operate with all found worthy of assistance and endorsement.

ARTICLE III.

The fund for maintaining the Bureau and for publishing and distributing a monthly bulletin of lands for sale in the State, and other necessary information, shall be raised by pro rata assessment of the counties upon the valuation given in the last Auditor's report, the money so collected to be used for these purposes only.

MAG REVEAL

to Money.
I have been selling Dish Washers three weeks, and have cleared $315. Can any of your readers, without previous experience, beat this? In this business a woman can make as much as a man. Every family wants a Dish Washer when they can get it so cheap, and they will have one, no matter who it is that is selling it. I am convinced any one can make from $5 to $10 a day in this business everywhere, city or country. They all want Dish Washers. You can get particulars by addressing the Iron City Dish Washer Co., E. E. Pittsburg, Pa., and by beginning at once, you can have enough money by spring to start in most any kind of business. I am going to stick right to this Dish Washer business until I make $10,000. MATILDA B.

ARTICLE IV.—OFFICERS.

SEC. 1. The officers of the Bureau shall consist of a President who shall be General Manager, a Secretary and Treasurer, the latter a Louisville bank or trust company, to be selected by the Advisory Committee named hereinafter, whose committee shall, every month, pass upon the accounts and vouchers of the General Manager. The General Manager shall have full charge of the details of the Bureau under such regulations as the Executive Committee may prescribe. The duties of the other officers shall be such as usually pertain to those in similar positions.

ARTICLE V.

STATE AND COUNTY ORGANIZATIONS.

SECTION 1. There shall be an Executive Committee, of which the President shall be Chairman ex officio, consisting of five from the State at large and one from each Congressional district. Those now constituting this committee shall hold their office for one year or until their successors are chosen; and when said committee is called together five members shall constitute a quorum. An Advisory Committee three members shall be elected annually by the Executive Committee, which when the latter is not in session, shall have the full powers of the Executive Committee.

SECTION 2. Each member of the Executive Committee shall be in charge of the Congressional district represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record. Care should be taken to avoid reporting for sale land of defective or doubtful title. The object of this form of organization is first, to interest as many good citizens in each county as possible in this important work, and, second, to limit the correspondence of the Bureau as nearly as possible to the Chairman of the Congressional District, from whom such matter will come properly sifted and certified. In the same way the business of the Bureau with the counties will be transacted, and all inquiries and instructions sent through said District Chairman. This, however, is intended for better organization and administration of affairs, and is not designed to limit the freest communication from citizens of every portion of the State with the Bureau.

In this connection it is advised and strongly urged that in all cities, towns and counties in which there is not a Commercial Club a similar body one should be formed, and that such as have fallen into disuse be received and enter into co-operation with this Bureau.

ARTICLE VI.—MEETINGS.

SECTION 1. The annual meeting of the member of the Bureau shall be on the last Tuesday in October. The Executive Committee shall meet quarterly, dating from the 24th day of October, 1894, unless the President, with consent of three-fourths of the members thereof, shall give notice that any stated meeting be passed. But the President may call a special meeting at such time and place as he may deem proper, and shall call the committee together at any time upon the written request of five of its members.

SECTION 1. The purpose of said bureau shall be to promote the progress of Kentucky:

1. By collecting accurate information respecting the natural resources of the State and aiding in disseminating the same, wherever it may be most beneficial to the localities and industries involved.
2. Ascertaining the wants of capital seeking investment and of prospective settlers on the one hand, and of the individuals and communities seeking capital and increased population on the other, and by becoming the medium of communication for bringing the two classes together.
3. By endeavoring to procure the passage of laws which will encourage the influx of capital and population.

SECTION 2. It shall be the aim of the Bureau to guard against interference or competition with the business of local real estate or other corporations, firms or individuals engaged in the work of development, but to co-operate with all found worthy of assistance and endorsement.

ARTICLE III.

The fund for maintaining the Bureau and for publishing and distributing a monthly bulletin of lands for sale in the State, and other necessary information, shall be raised by pro rata assessment of the counties upon the valuation given in the last Auditor's report, the money so collected to be used for these purposes only.

STATE AND COUNTY ORGANIZATIONS.

SECTION 1. There shall be an Executive Committee, of which the President shall be Chairman ex officio, consisting of five from the State at large and one from each Congressional district. Those now constituting this committee shall hold their office for one year or until their successors are chosen; and when said committee is called together five members shall constitute a quorum. An Advisory Committee three members shall be elected annually by the Executive Committee, which when the latter is not in session, shall have the full powers of the Executive Committee.

SECTION 2. Each member of the Executive Committee shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.

SECTION 3. The Bureau shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.

SECTION 4. The Bureau shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.

SECTION 5. The Bureau shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.

SECTION 6. The Bureau shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.

SECTION 7. The Bureau shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.

SECTION 8. The Bureau shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.

SECTION 9. The Bureau shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.

SECTION 10. The Bureau shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.

SECTION 11. The Bureau shall be in charge of the Congressional District represented by him, and he shall organize the several counties in his district as follows: In each county he shall appoint a Chairman for said county, who shall select, as County Committee, one more from each magisterial district, the duty of which committee shall be to collect the amount assessed by the Executive Committee for the respective counties and remit the same to the District Chairman; compile information respecting the resources of the county; make out lists of land for sale, therein giving the character, condition and the lowest prices at which it will be sold, and forward the same, with such other information as may be desired, to the District Chairman, who shall transmit same to the Bureau for file or record.
